Another world record set on Mondotrack at London Olympic Games

LONDON – Aug. 10, 2012 – Mondotrack, the track of the 2012 London Olympic Games, once again is the surface of a new world record. On Thursday, Kenya's David Rudisha broke his own world record in the 800 meters with a time of 1:40.91. With this race, Rudisha became the first man to run 800 meters in less than 1:41.

Made by Mondo, the global leader in the sport flooring market, Mondotrack was designed for superior athletic performance. It provides the optimum blend of speed, safety and comfort for both high-speed competition and training.

Mondotrack is Mondo's newest track surface. It builds on the success of the company's world-renowned Super X Performance track, which was the world's top track for more than 30 years and was an official track of eight Olympic Games through 2004. Mondotrack provides optimal traction and a greater contact area than other tracks. It converts the maximum amount of force generated by athletes' foot strikes to energy for maximum energy return, which helps athletes achieve faster times compared to running on other surfaces.

More than 230 world records have been set on tracks made by Mondo, including five at the 2008 Beijing Olympics. Mondotrack was the competition surface of those Games, as well.
