The MONDO brand, founded in 1948, stands for an Italian industrial group which counts 1500 employees in thirty production and commercial units, spread all over Europe, America and China and which commercializes its products in 196 countries worldwide.

Today the Mondo Group operates in three main businesses:

- Sport and Contract flooring;
- Playing balls and toys;
- Motor-yacht.

Mondo is specialised in the production of sports, commercial and industrial floorings on the highest standard. Known above all for its sports floorings, particularly athletics tracks and artificial grass fields, Mondo has been designated as Official Supplier of the Olympic Games on ten consecutive occasions, from Montreal 1976 to London 2012. About 150.000 athletes per year train and compete on Mondo floorings and equipments.

The company's Sports division is able to supply not only surfaces for football, athletic tracks, volleyball, basket, aerobics, but also sports equipment, video screens, electronic scoreboards and seating for stadium & arenas and sport facilities. This is possible thanks to its large investments in technological research and human resources. The heart of the company's operations and the driving force behind its international success in a wide variety of applications is the Mondo Research Center which, works in collaboration with prestigious research institutes specialized in a various fields, such as biomechanics, sports medicine and innovative materials.

Its civil range includes rubber and pvc floorings for means of transport, airports, hospitals, universities and schools, commercial centres and public buildings.

The Toy Division is the oldest business unit of the Mondo Group. Throughout the years the company has became the most important manufacturer of outdoor toys, and the world's largest manufacturer of playing balls (450,000 balls produced per day) for professional and recreational use known for their quality and exceptional design. In the year 2006 Mondo announced Mondomotors, a brand dedicated to car scale models that within a short amount of time has managed to reach a great success.

Since 1978, Mondo also operates in the naval sector: Mondomarine builds luxury motor-yachts in light alloy and/or steel. Models offered now range from 30 meters to 50 meters but custom designs are also available.
